GREAT FLOODS!

Wisconsin the Center of the Storm.

Dams, Mills and Bridges Swept Away.

A Lightning Bolt Strikes and Kills a Farmer's Wife.

All Railways Leading Into St. Paul Badly Damaged by Washouts and Trains Delayed.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 16.—A special to the Evening Wisconsin from River Falls, Wis., says a destructive flood is sweeping down Black River valley. A large number of dams, mills, iron bridges and other property have been destroyed. A special from Chippewa Falls also reports great destruction to property in Chippewa River valley. All railways report washouts and no trains from the north or west will reach Milwaukee until this evening.

St. Paul, Minn., May 16.—Severe storms, in the nature of a cloud burst, extending over about twenty-five miles of territory, with St. Paul on the western edge of the storm, did terrible damage last night. The amount of damage is uncertain, but is very heavy.

River Falls, Wis., reports a dam washed out and three bridges washed away, the damage on the dam being at least $25,000.

New Richmond, Wis., reports trains unable to run on account of washouts. Mrs. William Brennan, of Erwin Prairie, was killed and others severely injured by lightning.

All Chicago railroads suffered severely, no trains arriving on time and some not yet in or expected. Washouts still hold yesterday's day train on the Omaha at Hudson and last night's train at Eu Clair. A cut of the Hudson has been washed full, and the clearing of that track is indefinite.

The Wisconsin Central trains cannot run on account of washouts. The Burlington got in very late by going around over the Milwaukee and the Missouri road got its train in by a roundabout way. On the Burlington the wire was down near Prescott, Wis., and definite news of the trouble there is unobtainable. It is still close and threatening in this city, and it is feared the worst may not be over. Electric car lines were much demoralized during the storm last night. Great damage was done to cellars throughout the city. Flats are flooded, and residents are compelled to seek high ground.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., May 16.—The storm which passed over this city and vicinity last night swelled the Chippewa river and its tributaries over their banks, flooding an immense area of farming country, washing away railway tracks, bridges, buildings and mills. Several dams broke and caused most of the loss. This city lost three bridges and other property and property owners suffered heavy losses. The cedar block pavement on River street was torn out and much goods destroyed in cellars. The loss to the city is $15,000 at least, while the damage to private property will be $20,000. Duncan creek, a branch of the Chippewa, has been turned into a wild looking river, and saw mills and many thousands of logs were carried away. On account of the destruction of telegraph and telephone lines an estimate of the total loss can not be obtained. It is estimated in this city and county alone at $200,000. The Chippewa river is still rising and merchants in the lower part of the city are removing their goods.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 16.—The wall of water sweeping down Black river valley struck River Falls at 1 o'clock this morning. The fire alarm bells were rung and the people hurried from their homes to the aid of those living in the lower parts of the city, in the path of the flood. The dam of the Prairie mill checked the rush of water for a few minutes, but walls of mud and stone could not withstand the pressure and the dam gave way. Two big bridges were swept from their fastenings and carried away on the current. Several small buildings followed. Mealy's Starch factory was torn from its foundation and went down stream. Another large bridge went next. Foster's saw mill was in the path of the flood and suffered $2,000 damage. The damage at the Prairie mill is $2,000, and at Fortune's mill it is at $4,000.

Railway lines suffer severely from washouts. All the families on the lowlands were rescued. At Bloomer, in the Chippewa Valley, several dwellings, a large planing mill, the city pumping house and the fire engine house are gone. The immense dam across Black river, near Black River Falls, was in danger and the west wing was blown up to save the remainder of the structure. This sent a great flood down the valley on Black River Falls. The mill district of Glenwood is a scene of wreck and ruin. The big dam and sluice way of the Glenwood Manufacturing company were carried away and several hundred thousand feet of logs were carried away. Every bridge on the entire length of Tiffany creek is gone. Many dwellings in the lower part of the village are under water.

The Wisconsin Central Chicago train is cut off by washouts and is in the woods about a mile and a half from town.

At Chippewa Falls and north toward Bloomer the valley is under water. A ten-foot raise is promised at Eu Clair, where the water is now very high, before 10 o'clock tonight. This will cause heavy losses to mill owners and others. Advices at the railway offices in Milwaukee and St. Paul say all roads north and west of the city. No trains are arriving today from St. Paul and Minneapolis on any lines. Every railroad between Milwaukee and St. Paul has been badly tied up since last night. Washouts exist on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Chicago and Northwestern and the Wisconsin Central to a great extent, the complete extent of which could not be learned by the officials here up to this afternoon, owing to the fact that the telegraph wires were down or very badly crippled.

The washouts on the St. Paul road are the most serious on the river division between Red Wing and St. Paul and the limited from St. Paul to Chicago, due in Milwaukee at 9:10 o'clock this morning, did not arrive here until between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. The fast mail from St. Paul, which reaches here at 4:10 a. m., did not get in until late this afternoon. All other trains from or to St. Paul on that road were greatly delayed and were run via the Iowa and Minnesota division, going around by Northfield and Red Wing, thence to La Crosse. At the office of Assistant General Superintendent McKenna it was stated that the washouts were serious in extent and that the decrease general to all St. Paul trains. The Chicago and Northwestern train from St. Paul to Chicago, which should have left the north last night, was tied up at St. Paul until this morning and then proceeded via the Iowa and Minnesota divisions of the St. Paul, intending to run via Hastings and La Crosse to Camp Douglass, there to take its own tracks.

The damage on the Wisconsin Central is serious for miles in extent from Chippewa Falls west, and all trains for St. Paul or from there were tied up. Trains are running on fair time between Ashland and Milwaukee and Chicago, however. Reports received by General Manager Whitcomb stated that the storm was the severest ever known in that section and the damage more extensive than ever before. Owing to the demoralised condition of the wires but little can be learned as to how long it will require to make repairs sufficient for the free movement of trains.

STILLWATER, Minn., May 16.—Last night's storm left this city in worse condition than any of its predecessors. Many streets were washed out badly. Several houses on Fourth street were undermined and let down into a gully 20 feet deep. The yard and shops of the state penitentiary were flooded with sand and water and the loss to the state will be heavy. At one time the water was six feet deep in the yard. The convicts are all at work clearing the sand out. The railroad tracks are badly washed out and there will be no trains to or out for several days. The Sawyer house is again flooded with sand. Big rocks from the hillside were loosened and one crushed in the roof and wall of the Schupp warehouse. Business houses on Main street are flooded with sand. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., May 16.—The west wing of the immense dam at the Dells has been blown out to save the rest of it. The water is rapidly rising and the break is three hundred feet across.

WIFE MURDER.

A Most Revolting Case Comes to Light at Dallas.

L. E. Williams Splits His Wife's Head Open With an Axe and Buries the Body at Night.

DALLAS, Tex., May 16.—A most revolting case of wife murder has been unearthed here. L. E. Williams, an upholster on McKinney and Harwood streets, with his wife, lived on the second floor over his business house. Last Wednesday his wife disappeared. The neighbors became suspicious and informed the sheriff, who finally arrested Williams and Dick Johnson, a negro employee, and visited the home of Williams. The mattress and bed clothing were saturated with blood and a hand axe was found incrusted with gore. Near the sidewalk earth was removed and ten feet below the surface was found the body of Mrs Williams with her skull crushed in. Dick Johnson has confessed that Williams killed his wife and hired him and another negro to make away with the body.

BACK TO IDAHO

Will the Train Stealing Coxeyites Be Taken.

GREEN RIVER, Wyo., May 16.—The commonwealers who took a train from the United States Marshal Rankin, at Montpelier, have arrived here and made a request to be put under arrest, but Marshal Rankin refused to comply. A sand-storm was raging and later snow and hail fell, making the hungry men desperate. They were about to seize a train when Marshal Rankin, upon information from Marshal Pinkham, arrested them. They were then housed and fed. Colonel Copeland with twenty-five soldiers, left Cheyenne for this place yesterday.

Colonel Pollard and eighteen men of the Eighteenth infantry reached here at 3 o'clock to aid Marshal Rankin in the work of taking the Industrials, now under arrest, back to Idaho. Marshal Pinkham, of Idaho, will reach here this evening with warrants for the Industrials, who are now imprisoned in the armory here.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Weil left yesterday for Chicago to visit friends.

NEARER AND NEARER!

Comes Gen. Randall and His Unwelcome Commonwealers

Towards Fort Wayne—The Hungry Invaders Will Soon be Marching Through Our Streets.

MILFORD, Ind., May 16.—Indiana gets rid of General Randall and his woeful army this week. Ohio will then have a second visitation of the pestilence. Sullivan and his ragged, famished band will head for Toledo and the main contingent will beg from the prosperous towns in the southern section. Each has plenty of disaster and trouble ahead, for the towns are in arms against further countenance of protracted idleness on the part of the men. Toledo plans to arrest its invaders as vagrants, and General Randall gets word from Fort Wayne that he must do as he did at Laporte and keep a safe distance from the town. Both leaders laugh at adversity, and repeat a daily proclamation that they will parade Pennsylvania avenue Independence day.

Milford threw up both hands when the army reached it. The little village on both sides of Turkey Creek has only 600 souls when everybody is at home, and the burgo-masters who meet yearly in the town hall had no idea what might result should they close the ovens and refuse to kill a beef. They had no arms for defense against the invasion nor any men who sought a controversy with the determined commonwealers, and in consequence an appropriation was voted from the poor fund and the women folks pressed into baking bees. This was the price of peace and the ransom sent out to camp as a public safety measure.

Marshal Bets had the biggest job he had ever dreamed of. It was worse than Wild Dick's slaughter of a whole tribe of Indians, and for days he set about to drill his men into tactics of bravery. They were pledged to preserve peace at any cost, and when the sun shone down on Milford yesterday morning it saw its own face in an army of tin stars. With each star was the family mahogany cane or a new cut sapling, and when the sun went down it saw the stars conspicuous on the left side of proudly distended breasts, the mahogany firmly clutched in muscular hands and the citizen soldiers patroling Main street, throwing suspicious arrangements into jail or demanding passes and explanations. The rule was rigid, and the fact that it was passed by the council made it legal in the policeman's eye.

The army, soaked and washed by ten miles in the rain, went into camp in a carriage factory. It was hungry, with less than half a meal in its commonwealers had tied their bundles and were shuffling south by one point east. It had been besieged two days with armies whose forces had compelled contributions by their presence. The quiet and peace of the wealthy community had been disturbed as in the tumult of an Indiana election and grave men of dignity and affairs had all but fought for and against the movement. Honest Dunkards had been aroused from the evenness of their good life to an excitement which permitted strong words, with the wide hatted natives from Olive township in startled rows.

Every man, woman and child discussed Coxeyism and every merchant blessed the arrival of the show as a bigger drawer of country business than a circus.

Fort Wayne has decided to run the army to suit itself, as did Laporte. There are many unemployed in Fort Wayne and severe measures are to be adopted to keep the Randall men out of the town. A committee on public safety has been organized whose duties are to deal with the general and secure from him the terms of the capitulation whereby he is to make a detour. He is obstinate in his right to the city streets, his determination having preceded him. This aroused the city and today, at Warsaw, he will be in council with the committee. The staff is opposed to any further abandonment of rights to go, speak and act without restraint. Every opposition threatened a second imprisonment, the non-commissioned officers have instructions what to do in case all the leaders are incarcerated, and the only consoling bit of news given to the ranks is the assurance that 100 recruits will join at Fort Wayne.

Decatur is squirming under a promised Leo days with the army, it will get the host Saturday and Sunday, and thence to Pennsylvania this is the route: Van Wert, May 21; Delphos, 22; Lima, 23; Ada, 24; Forest, 25; Upper Sandusky, 26 and 27; Bucyrus, 28; Crestline, 29; Mansfield, 30; Ashland, 31; Wooster, June 1; Creston, 2 and 3; Medina, 4; Akron, 5; Ravenna, 6; Newton Falls, 7; Youngstown, 8 and New Castle, Pa., 9.

Politician Insane.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—Jake Rudolph, the politician, who last week attempted to shoot Business Manager Elliott, of the Chronicle, has been adjudged insane, and ordered by Judge Levy to be committed to the Stockton asylum. The charge of assault to murder, however, has not been dismissed.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.

The Conference of the Coal Men Drags Wearily On.

A More Liberal Feeling Prevails, However, and a Compromise is Not Improbable.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 16.—Although one session of the coal conference has been held and a night spent in caucusing has intervened, the conditions just before the conference met today were still very chaotic. At 8 o'clock the miners had another executive session in Case hall to perfect their scale of wages, which was to be later presented to the convention in the form of a simple resolution calling for a rate of 70 cents in the Pittsburg district, 50 cents in the Central Pennsylvania district, 70 cents in the Jackson and Hocking Valley fields in Ohio, 80 to 85 cents in the Massillon, Ohio, district, from 70 to 80 cents in Indiana, and from 70 to 85 cents in Illinois. Back of these general figures are rates for the different subdivisions in each large district, so that the matter is almost as complicated an affair as the tariff bill. The most of it is wholly uninteresting to the great majority of the miners and operators.

The mine operators met again in the chamber of commerce rooms at 10 o'clock today to consider their side of the wage question. At the meeting, which was presided over by Mr. Johnson, of Columbus, Ohio, a report was called for by Mr. Chapman, of Jackson county, Pa. from the members present at the Pennsylvania operators' meeting last night. Mr. Robbins, as the representative of that meeting, announced that the Pennsylvania operators have agreed upon a rate of sixty-five cents for Pennsylvania and fifty-six cents for the Hocking Valley district. He was asked by Mr. Chapman if that was the action of the entire Pennsylvania delegation or whether the ten Pittsburg delegates still held aloof from the agreement. His reply to that was:

"It was the action of last night's meeting and was, I think, the unanimous sentiment of that meeting."

Mr. Robbins then said he would like to know if that was satisfactory to the Ohio operators. One of the prominent Ohio operators, on behalf of the mine operators of the state, replied that he believed that would be entirely satisfactory to Ohio and that the Ohio mine owners would heartily co-operate with Pennsylvania to secure that end. Mr. Robbins then moved that a committee of five members representing each state, be appointed to agree upon a scale of wages to be presented to the convention, arranged satisfactorily to each state upon that basis. This was agreed to and the committee went into session on the wage scale. Outside of the meeting of mine operators, many operators are in favor of going into the convention today with the wage scale arranged on the basis proposed at the operators' conference, submitting the schedule to the miners for their further consideration and then adjourning.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 16.—The strikers made great gains today about Uniontown and in the northern end of the region. Only about a dozen men were at work at the Kyle plant, the others fearing to return on account of the presence of 500 strikers, encamped near the works. The strikers offered no violence. Southwest plants, Nos. 3 and 4, are shut down and many other works are badly crippled. The national organization has notified the strikers that $5,000 will be sent into the region every week from now on until the matter is settled.

DIAMOND ANNIVERSARY.

Odd Fellowship is Seventy-five Years Old Today.

Thousands of Members of the Order Gather at Indianapolis to Celebrate the Event.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 16.—To-day is the greatest in the history of Indiana Odd Fellowship. It is the seventy-fifth or Diamond anniversary of the order. Thousands of Odd Fellows from over the state are here and adjoining states have also sent a goodly number. A special arrived last night from Chicago bringing nearly 500 Illinoisans. The city is decorated elaborately in honor of her guests. The feature of the day will be the allegorical parade, which will take place this afternoon, and it will be the most pretentious in the city's history. Fourteen handsome floats, representing the traditions and epochs of the order, will lead and will be followed by 12,000 to 15,000 marchers. The Order of Rebekah is also in session and will take a prominent part in to-day's celebration.

Got Around Here Quick.

If you want anything in my line from a second-hand organ to a grand piano. Am on the round-up, and you must do business now or never, if you do business with me. I am willing to save you every dollar's profit this side of the factory if you come while I have pianos, and do business quickly, but time is money with me, and I haven't got any. Don't miss the "Kimball." It's a winner.

TWO BIG FIRES.

Four Blocks Swept Away by the Demon in New York City.

Twenty Acres of Dwellings Burned in Boston and Many People Left Homeless.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Fire started in wooden buildings in an enclosure known as Jones' Woods, at avenue A and 68th street today, spread over four blocks between 77th and 71st streets, avenue A and the east river. Over $200,000 damage was done. The sudden changes of the wind caused the fire to spread when the firemen thought they had it under control. Fifty horses were burned to death and a number of persons were injured.

Twelve minutes after the discovery of the flames, the enormous dancing pavilion, the two tiers of seats and galleries of the Woods were a mass of flames. A still southwest wind carried the flames towards the river. Then the wind changed again and turned the flames towards Avenue A. The fire seized the flimsy buildings, and in five minutes the great wooden towers at the entrance of the woods in Avenue A were burning, together with the line of buildings along Sixty-eighth street. The buildings on the north side of Sixty-seventh street also caught fire.

The buildings burned so rapidly around the engine stationed in the street that the firemen were compelled to desert it. The engine was buried beneath the ruins and crushed and twisted out of shape. The engine which was known as the 'Silver King' had been in the department twenty-four years.

Tenants of the buildings burned were unable to save any of their household effects. The stone works of E. A. & G. N. Williams, one of the best equipped concerns of the kind in the United States, were destroyed. As many as 150 trades standing in the streets and which were the property of men living in the houses thereabout, were burned.

On the river front side, the dancing pavilion's bar rooms, shooting galleries, bowling alleys, and dressing rooms crumbled like paper. The docks at the foot of Sixty-eight and Seventieth streets were consumed, as were also the buildings and plant of the East River Gas company.

Mrs. Mary Reilly, a widow, had her leg broken in jumping from the window of her home. Fireman Richard T. Moore, in going to the fire, was thrown from his truck, the wheels of which passed over and fatally injured him. Battalion Chief John Fisher was also thrown from his wagon and several bruised.

Last night the P. J. Meyer association held a dance in the Woods, and it was 3 o'clock this morning before the last of the guests left the place. It was an hour later when the flames were discovered. Nothing as to the origin of the fire can be learned.

BOSTON, May 16.—A cigarette butt thrown into a pile of waste paper under the bleachers, or 25-cent seats in the Boston base ball grounds yesterday afternoon started a fire which destroyed more than 140 buildings occupying about sixteen acres of land in the crowded tenement house section of the south end.

The district burned out extends from Burke street on the north to Sarsfield street on the south, the New York, New Haven and Hartford tracks on the west to Warwick street on the east.

All the buildings on the following entire streets are in ashes: Burke, Coventry, Walpole, Sarsfield, all parallel; all of Berlin street, three blocks on each side of Tremont street, three blocks on each side of Cabot street, three blocks on the west side of Warwick street, and two blocks on the north side of Newburn street. Besides the Hotel Walpole, two apartment houses on Sterling street were burned, three on Western street, two on Hammond Park, two on Windor street, and all those on Yendlay place.

This morning a stretch of smoking, blackened ruins, covering more than a dozen acres, shows the scene of last night's fire. Household furniture and property of every description litters the streets, and hundreds of those made homeless by the conflagration are vainly searching the ruins of their houses in the hope of finding something of value remaining.

About half a million dollars worth of property was destroyed. Just 137 buildings, over two-thirds of which were wooden structures, were consumed, twenty-two more were partially burned. For the most part they were occupied by the poorer classes, and 467 families, or more than 2300 persons are homeless.

The Boston Base Ball association and the city of Boston are heaviest financial losers. The property of the former was valued at $70,000 and is a total loss. The city's loss is over $100,000. But one fatality has been reported, a three-months-old baby having been suffocated on Boyler street, and seventeen persons were injured; none of them seriously. Nearly a dozen invalids in houses, now in ruins, were conveyed to the hospitals during the fire.

During the night fire started again in the top of a brick block on the west side of Cabot street and burned for an hour. The building was destroyed.

FORTY CHILDREN MISSING.

A list completed this afternoon shows that over forty children are missing. No bodies have yet been found, however.

BRICE FIXES THE DATE.

The Tariff Bill Will be Through the Senate by June 15.

Every Vote Taken on the Amendments Shows a Safe Democratic Majority.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Senator Brice stands by his original proposition that the 15th of June will see the tariff bill through the senate. He was discussing the rumor current about the senate that another democratic conference was to be held.

"What is the use of it?" he asked. "We are getting on in good shape, and we shall come through on schedule time. Every vote taken on the amendments shows a safe democratic majority, and the amendments are being dispatched with as much rapidity as could be expected at this stage. You have not noticed any defections in the democratic ranks yet, have you? Senator Hill is absent, but he is paired on the amendments with Senator Lodge, he for them and Lodge against. Oh yes, there may be some trouble on the income tax when that is reached, but it will be gotten over and the bill will go on its way. I look to see the opposition melt away, and the collapse will probably be sudden and unexpected when it does come, just as it was when the silver repeal bill was up. I said that bill would pass before the end of October, long before the final vote was reached. Well, it did pass. So will the end come in this case, and it will be reached by the same methods. On the 19th of October the opposition to the repeal of the Sherman law was apparently as strong as it had been at any time since the debate had begun; on the 20th it was all over. This talk of there being four, five or seven democratic senators opposed to the pending bill, which we hear from our friends on the republican side, is all in the air and they will see their mistake soon. We are getting on in a way to contradict that and the minority will soon melt away in the face of facts that must convince. Cloture, I doubt it, that would be a new question to settle, and I don't think we shall try it. But I expect to see the bill put through under the present rules, and I shall not change my original date for the final consummation."

TEN CENTS A DAY BUYS A PIANO.

Children, Make a Grand Kick for This,

And You'll Have a Piano in Your Home Tonight—It May Be Now or Never.

We do not at our Arcade prices take second hand pianos and organs in exchange, but several of our patrons who purchased new Kimballs have asked us to sell their old instruments.

We are always ready to accommodate our friends in this way, and as they have not limited us to any set price, knowing full well that every dollar realized for their old instrument through me would be just that much clear gain over any deal they could have made elsewhere, as the old instrument would in turn be sold at auction to the local dealers' profits. We therefore have several splendid bargains in second hand square pianos, some as good as new, others quite old, but in perfect order; all of which must be sold this week without limit, and regardless of value.

You may have one square piano worth $60 for $25—$5 down and $2 per month.

You may have another square, handsomer case, better style, worth $75, for $35—$10 down and $2 per month.

You may have a small "colibri" Matthushek (not any longer than an upright) but 7-octave keyboard, in fine condition, powerful tone, equal to any large square grand, and well worth $100, for $50, $10 down, and $3 per month. Also another "Mathushek" square of this same size and style except very handsome case, carved legs and well worth $125, for $60, $10 down, and $4 per month.

I also have a most magnificent, large, handsome "Story & Clark" organ (the finest style I have yet seen of that make), used only a little over one year, and which shows no use or mar of any kind, and which is well worth $125, for $60—$10 down and $4 per month. Have several other makes and styles, some as low as $10; others at $12, on terms of $5 down and $1 per month.

We must sell everything in this line by Saturday of this week, and are ready to nearly give them away. Don't miss this chance; we are winding up our matters at Fort Wayne.

A. A. FISHER.

Death of a Consul General.

BERLIN, May 16.—The United States consul general, William Hayden Edwards, died last night of brain fever. Mr. Edwards had been ill for a month. He leaves a widow and two children. The burial will take place at Pottsdam. George E. Murphy, the vice United States consul from the grand duchy of Luxemburg, will assume charge of the United States consulate here until a successor to Mr. Edwards shall have been appointed. Mr. Edwards was appointed from Ohio.

MRS. E. G. Davis, of East Wayne street, entertained a number of her friends last evening. At 11 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served. Among those present were Misses and Messrs. J. C. Cratsley, Geo. Smith, T. L. Comparet, Frank Stone, W. T. Davis, Miss Jennie Smith and Messrs. Joe Gorwood and Harry Davis.

THREE APPOINTMENTS.

Board of Public Safety in Session This Morning.

A Weighmaster and Two Clerks for the Police Station Chosen—Three New Police Selected.

The board of public safety were in session all morning and, as a result, three appointments were made.

The first was that of weighmaster. For this place L. C. Hollenbacher, of the Eighth ward, was chosen. Mr. Hollenbacher is married and is forty-three years of age. He was born in Ohio, but has lived in Fort Wayne twenty-three years. Cigarmaker by trade, but has of late been employed as shipping clerk by the Evans Manufacturing company, writes and speaks both English and German. He came to the board with exceedingly strong recommendations. Politics, republican.

For the office of marketmaster, Wm. Hops, present incumbent, was retained by the board. He is a democrat.

For the place of day clerk at the police station Harry McMullen, late city editor of the Fort Wayne Daily Gazette, was chosen. Mr. McMullen had a very strong endorsement. Every newspaper worker in the city signed a petition to have him appointed. Mr. McMullen is married and lives on Hulliman street, Bloomingdale. He is thirty seven years of age. He was born at Detroit, Mich, and is a graduate of the State Normal school of Michigan. Mr. McMullen taught school for some years, and will make a splendid day clerk.

W. H. Hoham, a brother-in-law of Councilman George Loesch, the druggist, was appointed as night clerk. He is married and is 28 years of age; was born in Plymouth, Ind. He speaks both German and English, and resides in the Third ward.

LAST NIGHT'S APPOINTMENTS

At a meeting of the board of public safety held last night three men were selected for places on the police force provided they can pass the necessary examination. This makes eight new patrolmen already selected and the heads of a corresponding number of men now on the force will have to go to the basket. The appointments are as follows:

Frank C. Smith, formerly a brakeman on the Nickel Plate and later night foreman of the round house. He is a man of intelligence and of excellent physique.

Henry Remarman, also an employe of the Nickel Plate, is a big fellow. He measures one inch over six without his shoes, and weight 210 pounds. He was brought up in the city and educated in the Lutheran parochial schools.

J. A. Collier, is an ex councilman of Monroeville, and is of more than ordinary intelligence. He is a man of excellent habits and a man with whom the board was much pleased.

SLUGGED HER TRADUCER.

Mrs. Joseph Wilkie Uses Up William Workman.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Joseph Wilkie, of No. 27 Walton avenue, made an assault upon one William Workman, employing a slung shot, and badly using up the fellow. It seems that Workman had been circulating stories about the lady, claiming to have taken improper liberties with her. Mrs. Wilkie is a woman of spirit, and as the charges were false she burned with righteous indignation and laid for her traducer. Mrs. Wilkie met Workman in front of Henry Piepenbrink's meat market late yesterday afternoon and proceeded to give him an unmerciful whipping. The fellow showed fight and after he had been knocked down, attempted to leave a large stone at the Amazon's head, but was promptly knocked down again. Panic seized the circulator of false stories and he attempted to break and run, but Mrs. Wilkie collared him again and he was given another swipe. Thoroughly vanquished, Workman gave up and said he would "take it all back," and the doughty woman went back to her peaceful home well satisfied with her afternoon's work.

Mrs. Wilkie is young, good looking and her husband is a railroad man in the employ of the Pennsylvania company.

Court News.

Justice Tancey and a jury are hearing the case of DeWald & Co. against Zwahlen on account. W. P. Breen represents the plaintiff and George W. Lontitt the defendant.

Charles E. Somers and Mattie Philley have been licensed to wed.

Suit was filed this afternoon by Harry Hanna, as attorney for John C. Eckart, against A. C. Trentman and Thos. Hedekin on a note of $2,500, and by T. B. Ellison, as attorney for the Hoosier Manufacturing company, against A. C. Trentman, Thos. Hedekin and John F. Curtice on a note for $2,500.

A Beauty.

Have yet left for sale one magnificent cabinet grand "Hallet & Davis" piano (the finest style and design turned out by that company), in rich case of French burl walnut, that must be sold immediately to some one. I know there must be many friends to the "Hallet & Davis" piano in this city who have money, but no piano, and who, I'm sure, if they knew how exceptionally fine this one, and how low the price to close out, they would take advantage of it. See it at the Arcade.

POLICE COURT.

George Wilson Held on a Charge of Petit Larceny.

He Tapped the Till of Peter Creight's Saloon and Stole $23—Johnson Taken Back.

This morning at police court George L. Wilson was up for tapping the till in Pete Creight's saloon. The fellow went through the place while Creight was absent for a few moments in the back yard. On the same back he saw the stranger sliding out the front door and the cash drawer standing open. A hasty glance showed that $23 had been stolen, and Creight at once gave chase. The fellow ran down Chicago street, but in turning into an alley slipped and fell. He was easily captured and held until the police wagon arrived. At the station $5 was found in the street band of his hat, but the balance of the cash could not be found, as it was probably thrown away as the fellow ran. Wilson had a knife which he attempted to use. Before Justice France Wilson plead guilty and was bound over in the sum of $500. He went to jail.

TAKEN BACK.

Mention was made last evening of the capture at the place of Ed. Johnson, wanted at Antwerp, Ohio, for an assault upon Mrs. Nell Higgins. Sunday Johnson and the Higgins woman drove from Antwerp to Paulding, and it was on the return trip that the alleged assault was committed. Mrs. Higgins says she was dragged from the carriage and assaulted by Johnson in the most brutal manner. Her clothing, she says, was almost torn from her, and her person painfully bruised. The woman filed an affidavit against Johnson, but in making the arrest the officers allowed the fellow to escape. Johnson has a brother in this city and came here to join him. The prisoner was taken back on the 5 o'clock train over the Wabash this morning.

WILL IT PAY US?

To Give $150,000 to Have Railroad Shops Built in This City

And Fort Wayne Made the Divisional Point With the General Offices of the Company Located Here?

As a general proposition it pays to give bonuses to railroads in order to get shop privileges and the divisional of the road. Railroads will not give these privileges unless they are paid for them. According to the opposite of this proposition, twenty-two years ago this city refused to give a bonus to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The city of Garrett, of four thousand inhabitants, twenty-two miles north of this place, is a continuing argument against the folly of Fort Wayne at that day. Again, we did by private subscription and by public aid, offer $150,000 for the location of the Nickel Plate shops here, but even this did not get them. This road made Fort Wayne a divisional point on its line, but had it been to the interest of its directors to have located the shops and the divisional point together eight or nine miles away from here, they would have done it. As it was, they owned a large tract of land at Stony Island, so they placed shops at the terminal instead of at the divisional of the road. The men who build railroads are like the balance of the world, no better and no worse. They appreciate the value of a dollar just as highly. They know as well as any one else what advantage a divisional point on a good railroad is worth to a city or town. They know, too, that railroad shops are of great value in furnishing labor and enhancing real estate values. Those advantages they offer to sell. If they are not bought, other uses are made of them. The Baltimore and Ohio people, after offering to sell the benefits of their road with its shops and divisional point to Fort Wayne, and having the offer rejected, put the road and the shops and the divisional where it would do the most good for themselves. The Baltimore and Ohio asked a bonus of $300,000 to bring the road and shops here—a very large sum, and yet not so much as was actually made by the promoters of the road out of the town of Garrett. The whole question is simply one of business on both sides, no sentiment is indulged in by the railroad people and none should enter into the consideration of the question by the people of this city. How much can Fort Wayne give for the things promised? Is $150,000 too much? Are the conditions upon which the money is to be paid sufficiently guarded? If these matters are satisfactory, then there should be no quibbling as to the right or wrong of giving bonuses. Neither should any hope be indulged that we will get all this without money and without price. The railroad will undoubtedly be built through Wayne township and some where near to the city or in it. There will be depot buildings, but it is very sure that unless the price is paid, the shops, the general offices and the divisional point of the road will be elsewhere. Neither the owners of the 5,000 vacant lots in and about the city, nor the business men of the city, nor the idle laborers who have their homes here, will realize much benefit out of such a road without the shops. A city to get much benefit out of a railroad must invite its tradmen to go to their homes in its limits and must furnish the homes for the men who make its cars and engines and care for its property.

TOMORROW is circus day, and the small boy will be happy.

THE end of the tariff discussion in the senate is in sight. Senator Brice promises that a vote will be reached by June 15.

THE sickness that in many cases follows vaccination has been very prevalent in Fort Wayne. Many persons have been ill and the attendance at the public schools has been greatly reduced.

THE author of "She" is about to take to journalism. The African Review, a London paper devoted to the interests of the dark continent, will in future be conducted by H. Rider Haggard and W. A. Wills.

A TELEGRAM from Washington says: "Professor Dreidrich, of Fort Wayne, consul to Leipsic under the Harrison administration, is in Washington, and announces that he will be the republican nominee for congress in the Twelfth Indiana district."

THE addresses, letters, telegrams, etc., sent to Prince Bismarck on his last birthday exceeded 11,000. The only other person who receives birthday congratulations in showers is Mr. Gladstone, but his birthday records in this respect are considerably behind those of the ex chancellor.

EVERY brave squaw and pappoose in the Kickapoo tribe of Indians will receive $200 in a few days. This, with their farm lands, ought to insure them against begging at the doors of the United States for at least two years, but the probabilities are that in less than two months the majority of them will be as "hard up" as ever.

SOME of the papers are calling attention to the fact that the 10th of May was the twenty fifth anniversary of the completion of the first all-rail line across the American continent. It is doubtful if any single event in twenty-five years has more affected the individual lives and fortunes of Americans than the completion of the Pacific railroad May 10, 1869.

THE state tax commission has rejected all offers to compromise with the railroads in the tax litigation. The negotiations have been pending for some time, the commission having held several meetings to consider the propositions. The roads have endeavored to be relieved of paying penalties on delinquent taxes. The commissioners have made the roads a proposition, the nature of which is not made public, but the railways thought to accept would be an unconditional surrender.

POLITICAL fame has come already to Coxey, the leader of the industrial armies. At the congressional convention of the populists, held at Canton, Ohio, yesterday, he was nominated for congress by acclamation. There were about 100 delegates present. For a platform the committee on resolutions indorsed the one adopted at Omaha in 1892, and in addition inserted a resolution condemning the action of the Washington police in beating Browne and his followers and approving the work of Coxey.

On the 9th of June the people of Wayne township will be called on to vote upon the question of giving $150,000 to aid in the construction of the shops of the Fort Wayne and Eastern railroad. This is a matter that THE SENTINEL desires to leave entirely to the voters of Wayne township and they must decide for themselves whether the building of the shops will benefit them in the way of adding to the value of their property or giving employment to labor. It is a matter of dollars and cents to the taxpayers, and we hope they will examine into the matter very carefully before going to the polls. In the language of our old friend, Davy Crockett, "be sure you are right and then go ahead."

IF THE present miners' strike is long continued it may bring about a revolution in the use of fuel. The Burlington road is now experimenting in the use of petroleum as a fuel for its engines. In consequence of so many roads being crippled on account of a scarcity of coal caused by the miners' strike, and the increased expense of coal, it is becoming a matter of much import to railroad managers. They are evidently looking about to seek some other form of fuel. Hence the experiments of the Burlington are being watched with great interest. The strikes may thus bring about the use of a more economic fuel than coal, and if such should prove to be the case, the present strike may prove a blessing in disguise so far as railroads are concerned.

NEW YORK has enacted a libel law which is expected to go far toward making an end of one of the most fruitful sources of libelous publication. It makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a year's imprisonment and a fine of $500 to deceive a newspaper with information of the kind, which, being false, is libelous. Only editors know, perhaps, how frequently false information of all kinds is sent to a paper; how ingenious it is, and under what an outside of simplicity and good faith it masquerades. In the hurried manner with which news for daily papers is gathered, the wonder is that their writers do not make more mistakes. Lawmakers ought to feel, and the law ought to reflect the feeling, that no newspaper willfully libels any one. Its duty to the public is to give the news, and in doing so, they ought to be given every protection consistent with right and fairness.

STATE SENATOR McHUGH, of Tippecanoe county, city attorney of Lafayette, and author of the celebrated bill by which municipal officers claim the right to hold until September following an election, Monday voluntarily resigned his position with the city of Lafayette, because he believed that a change of administration having been won by the republicans they were entitled to the offices. George P. Haywood was elected as his successor, after which the council removed the other democratic incumbents and named their successors. The officers who were removed stepped aside under protest, pending a construction of the new law by the supreme court. If the supreme court sustains the validity of the McHugh bill, they will demand pay for time lost.

Uniforms For Women.

It is the "hello girls" of Jersey City who are the latest feminine complainers against the injustice of the tyrant man. They are indignant because the "super" has issued an order that hereafter they must wear only black when on duty.

Truth to say, these young women have some cause for complaint. Their protest is not altogether against the wearing of a uniform dress, as have been the protests of so many of their sisters in dry goods stores and in various branches of domestic service. The "telephone ladies" of Jersey City object to the new rule mainly, so they say, because it has been promulgated so late in the season, after many of them have procured and prepared for wear the muslins, and the lawns, and the challis that when properly made and worn upon the person of a telephone girl or any other American girl look so charming and are undeniably more comfortable to the wearer during the heat of the summer. Now, if the order stands, these young ladies will have to buy additional working dresses of black, reserving their lighter, cooler, more bewitching gowns for wear out of hours and on Sundays and holidays. Many of them say they cannot afford so extensive a wardrobe, and all the world knows that the telephone company is not likely to suit the compensation of its girls to the regulation as to costume put forth by an exchange manager.

But there is some probability that a part of the opposition to the wearing of black gowns only by the young ladies in this case comes from an antipathy to the idea of showing by their dress that they are working girls. In this country the theory that all are by right equal has taken deep root, and the notion of making actual inequality evident by distinctions of attire is repugnant to many persons. Shopgirls have been known to strike rather than wear uniforms. Many nursegirls refuse to don the white cap, which their mistresses and in fact most persons think so becoming, esteeming it a badge of servitude, not to be worn in a free country like America, and the scheme for the adoption of a "business dress for business women" fell through because the business women themselves did not propose to advertise themselves to be such by their garb.

But the positive repugnance of the fair sex to uniformity of attire is not shared by all the men. Soldiers and sailors, policemen and firemen, railroad men and messengers, coachmen and footmen—they all don the regulation uniforms, the wearing of which unmistakably proclaims the occupation of the wearer, while not in any manner detracting from his self respect or the consideration with which he is treated by his fellow men.

New Zealand Land Laws.

The pioneers of New Zealand apparently began their task of making a new nation by avoiding what seemed to them the mistakes of the old ones. One of these mistakes was the grabbing up of great quantities of land by speculators. Accordingly a law was passed that nobody should own more than 640 acres of first class land or more than 2,000 acres of second class land. There is now no general property tax. The taxes are imposed only on land and incomes. In addition to the ordinary land tax an additional graduated one has been applied to rich and large real estate properties which, in spite of the land law mentioned, have come into the hand of separate owners. Every legal impediment has been placed in the way of holding great landed estates.

Land is held in New Zealand in three ways: 1. It may be bought outright of the government. 2. It may be leased, with privilege of purchase at any time within 25 years. 3. It may be leased in perpetuity. When it is taken with the intention of purchase, the holder pays to the New Zealand government a yearly rental of 5 per cent of the farm's cash value. If, however, it is taken on perpetual lease, the holder pays an annual 4 per cent rental. The perpetuity leases, so called, run 999 years. Stated improvements are required to be placed upon the land by its occupier. The policy of the nation is distinctly to encourage small farms.

It ought to be gratifying to the pride of every patriotic American Christian to know that it is a countryman of ours who has secured permission from the Ottoman government to make more extensive excavations about Jerusalem than have been made by any preceding investigator. The man to whom has been granted this privilege is named Frederick Bliss, and he may examine anything he chooses and dig where he pleases providing he disturbs no Moslem relics or holy places.

A publication in New York does not space out between words to make the lines all of the same length, but puts whatever space is needed at the ends of the lines, giving the columns the same appearance as matter printed by a typewriter, where there can be no such spacing. The editor says it saves time, that the result does not offend the eye, and that it does not impair the legibility. This is a specimen of such work. What do you think about it, reader?

The 17 year locust has made his appearance at Nyack, N. Y. He was due according to the local savants, his last visit having been in 1877, the year of the great railroad strikes, and the one before that in 1860, when the civil war was about to begin. His first recorded visit was in 1860.

"We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced," most grave and reverend senators. Now, either settle that tariff question or get out and give Coxey's army a chance. Something or nothing, and that very quick.

Afflictions of a Famous Family.

It was not until seven years ago that the uniform good fortune that for so many decades had fallen to the lot of the four famous brothers of the Field family began to fail. Then Cyrus W., "the man who laid the cable," whose fortune was so great that he was known as a multi-millionaire, lost his fortune and became comparatively a poor man, Jay Gould and Russell Sage, according to current rumor, benefiting by the crash in Manhattan which caused the failure.

Still Cyrus W. Field was not cast down. He had enough to live on, his home was a happy one, his daughters were well married, and his sons were prosperous. In 1890, when his golden wedding was celebrated, his three famous brothers—David Dudley, the writer of codes; Henry M., the editor of The Evangelist, and Stephen J., United States judge—were all present, and though one of the quartet had lost his money life seemed full of comfort and happiness to all four.

But in less than a year after Cyrus W. Field's wife, Mary Bryant Stone, sickened and died. Her funeral was hardly over when the disastrous failure of the firm of Field, Lindley, Wiechers & Co., whose leading partner was Cyrus W.'s eldest son, Edward M., was announced. A few days later Alice Bryant Field, an unmarried daughter, went crazy and had to be secluded in an asylum. Mrs. Daniel A. Lindley, another daughter, was presently taken ill, and in a few months she died. All these misfortunes would have broken the spirit of an ordinary man, and it was at one time rumored that the mind of Cyrus W. Field had given way from the strain. But it was not so. He rallied and again looked the world in the face, hopeful that his troubles were at an end. And so they were, in a sense, for in July, 1892, he died.

In December of the same year Edward M. Field was adjudged insane, and his time since then has been mostly passed in asylums and jails. The wife of Cyrus W., Jr., brother of Edward M. Field, desirous of doing what she could to help mend the family fortunes, braved the speech of people and went into the millinery trade. It availed nothing. Though she devoted a vast deal of energy to the business, it soon failed, and she lost a sum of money that was more to her in her days of adversity than ten times as much a few years before.

Then came unexpected but a few days ago the death of David Dudley Field, and now Cyrus W. Field, Jr., is seriously ill. Only two of the famous brothers are left, and when they are gone the glory of the family will go, too, for neither will leave sons or daughters who can maintain it.

Is anything in current annals sadder than the sudden decadence of the fortunes and the happiness of the Fields?

Don't Be Too Hard.

It was not enough that Sarah Grand, author of "The Heavenly Twins," should cruelly but deftly excoriate the male portion of the human race in The North American Review for March. In the April number she proceeds to expose his poor, miserable carcass, all covered with the marks of her shining scalpel and with the defects of his moral turpitude and his natural pusillanimity, to the gaze of his fellow mortals.

With a tongue "that biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder," she proceeds to tell us that man—who was "born of woman, by the way"—can see the opposite sex suffer "injustice, injury, poverty and disgrace" and never lift a hand to prevent it. Then with a fine Italian hand she holds up our "low moral tone" to us and declares it "threatens to enervate the race," saying which she proceeds to yearn for "the good old days when a man who spoke disrespectfully of a woman was liable to be called upon to answer with his life." Right you are, Mrs. Grand, and, mutatis mutandis, vice versa.

But in view of the remarkable fact that our mothers have been women for a good many years past, and in consideration that in our sane moments we still think a good deal of the opposite sex, we would like to continue at the old stand awhile. We want to slay the dreadful mouse while Flora stands on the chair, to hold the umbrella over the head of Minnie and be drenched, to shoo the fierce mulley cow away from Maud and stand while Blanche sits. We are poor, miserable "critters," but don't be too hard on us.

The progress of woman suffrage is one of the signs of the times, but much more significant is the advancement of the sex illustrated by the banquet held the other day in New York by the Woman's Law Alumnæ association. The intricacies of law have hitherto put the sex at a disadvantage in technical matters, but the opening of a new field of information for them will be a future panacea for the effects of the old maxim that "ignorance of the law excuses no one." Let the good work go on. The more fields in which we train the rising generation in the true education the better.

It is well to keep up with the latest rulings in etiquette, and for this reason we here record the decision that it is bad form for a divorced man or woman to take part in social functions for the space of three days after the death of the former husband or wife.

It is stated that 61 women to 26 men place themselves under treatment for the reduction of superfluous fat.

The topsy turvy experiences of Alice in Wonderland were as nothing to those of Maud How Elliott in Rome, so far as the cost of housekeeping is concerned, according to her letters from the Eternal City. In her letters she records that kerosene costs her the equivalent of $3.25 a gallon, sugar 20 cents a pound and salt 8 cents a pound. Per contra, potatoes enough to feed a big family for a day cost but 5 cents, the best chianti only 60 cents a gallon, and a perfect jewel of a cook is rejoiced to get $7 a month—the best wages ever received by that particular functionary.

A reformer has arisen among the messenger boys of New York. His name is Charles J. Warren, and he has formed an anticigarette league. Of course he has enemies among his fellows, and the leaguers and the antileaguers have already had several fights over the proposed reform.

Still on the Stage.

SCIENCE HAS DONE IT!

How Food is Artificially Digested Before Being Eaten.

A WONDERFUL PROCESS.

It Is Revolutionizing Modern Living and Certain to Advance the Condition of the Nation.

But a short time ago some eminent scientists made a great discovery. They discovered that fats and oils didn't fatten thin people. Everything seems simple after someone else has found it out. If we had thought, we would have remembered that for ages doctors have forbidden starch food to people who wanted to get thin. It follows they ought to recommend starch foods to people who want to get fat. Nobody knows why they didn't do so. Nobody knows why they don't all do so now. But they are learning. More are recommending it every day. They are beginning to believe in Paskola, because Paskola is a starch food.

It has long been known that starch food is the most natural food for man. Of the four chief chemical divisions of human food, viz: starch, fats, albumens and salts, starch is the most important, fats the least important.

If we had only starch we could do without fatty food. We would die if we tried to do without starch foods.

Many people are dying today because their digestive organs can not digest starch food. They eat plenty of starch, but they can't digest it. They keep thin. They keep getting thinner. There is but one hope for them: Paskola.

One reason that Paskola will help them is because it is a pure starch food. Another reason is because it is a predigested food.

Nothing but starch food will ever make you fat, strong and hearty. Meat or albuminous food merely repairs waste tissues. But even if it were pre-digested, it would not make you fat.

Fat food can not be pre-digested, but even if it could, it would not make you fat.

Paskola is only a pure starch predigested food, combined with natural vegitable ferments which aid the digestion of other food.

Paskola is the only starch food which will make a confirmed thin person fat. Paskola creates an appetite for other foods and helps your stomach to digest them. It also tones up and gives strength to the feeble stomach.

The old, old notion about fats and oils and fatty foods making a person fat is fast fading away. The most eminent scientists and medical men have long since ceased to believe in it. The rank and file of the profession are fast following their example.

Even if fatty food could make people strong and fat, all the good it would do would be to well people, for it is only well people's stomachs that can stand it. Well people don't need food that will make them fat. They are generally fat already. If they weren't fat, they wouldn't be well.

It is just the people who need food that will make them fat whose stomachs can't stand fatty food. We can't fight nature. This sick people have a very general and decided aversion to fats and oils. That ought to be sufficient proof to us that fat is not what they need to make them well.

Even the thinnest and sickest people like Paskola.

They like other starch food too. They probably eat a good deal of starch food. Nature allows them to do so. They have no decided aversion to it. This is proof that starch food is a good food.

The reason that the food thin people eat does not make them fat is simply that they do not digest it. They are sick, and that is the sickness they suffer from. Most dyspeptics cannot even retain starch food on their stomachs. It ferments and forms a noxious gas. They are in the unhappy state of needing starch food so badly that they are slowly dying for the want of it, and yet they cannot digest it. The most delicate stomach can retain Paskola.

The great difference between ordinary good starch food and Paskola is that Paskola is pre-digested. Paskola would make you fat if you hadn't a stomach. With a stomach, no matter how sick it may be, Paskola makes you fat all the quicker. Paskola is superseding Cod Liver Oil, because it is pleasant to the taste and is far more effective in its operation.

A pamphlet giving full particulars respecting Paskola will be sent on application to The Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade St., New York.

CUPID'S POT POURRI.

MATRIMONIAL SENSATIONS OF RECENT OCCURRENCE.

MILWAUKEE IS VERY POPULAR WITH ELOPERS.

A St. Louis Romance—Cincinnati Physician Loves a Pretty Patient and Then Marries Her—Some Queer Sprigs of the Marriage Tree.

THE MARRIAGE of Mrs. Philippine Overstolz to Dr. Otto E. Forster was announced at St. Louis the other day and now the society folk of that town have gotten their tongues to wagging. It seems that, wishing to avoid the exigencies of a wedding, they went to Milwaukee, where the ceremony was quietly performed. Dr. Forster has been for some years a well known and popular bachelor in high German society circles. He is the son of Marquand Forster, the millionaire brewer, and is a well-known physician. The bride was the widow of the late Henry Overstolz, twice mayor of the city of St. Louis, and during his administration their elegant home on Washington avenue—over which she presided right royally—was always open to the city's guests, among whom were many distinguished personages of that day. She was the daughter of the late Louis Espenschied, a well known and wealthy manufacturer, and was a famous belle and beauty. They withheld the fact of their marriage from everybody until the bridegroom, unable to keep the secret any longer, notified his family. Then Mrs. Overstolz made the fact known to her relatives.

LAURA F. BREED.

Dr. William M. Roads, one of the most prominent ear and throat specialists in the west, and of a wealthy family, was married in Cincinnati the other evening to Miss Laura Flaring Breed at the palatial home of the bride's parents in the fashionable east end. Miss Breed is the daughter of William J. Breed, a wealthy coffin manufacturer of the firm of Crane, Breed & Co. Dr. Roads attended Miss Breed during an affliction, affected a cure, and thus the acquaintance began. They went east on a short wedding tour and then return to prepare for a year's absence abroad.

C. B. Geoghan and a handsome, richly attired woman, whom he presented as his wife, were arrested in Toledo last week by Chief of Detectives Hall on suspicion. The pair tried to sell a costly wrap in the entrance to the Standard theater, when Mr. Hall happened along. The couple proved to be two attendants from the Elgin, Ill., insane asylum. The woman was taken up stairs to the matron's department, where she burst into tears and stated that she had eloped with Geoghan ten days ago from the asylum. She said both are married. They had been living at the Aubrey house, a cheap lodging place, for about a week, and Geoghan had been looking in vain for work. The chief has wired to the asylum to see if the couple were wanted. The woman refused to give her name. They were wanted.

C. B. GEOGHAN.

William Pitts left his wife at Vanceburg, Ky., at the beginning of the war, with three children. She had not heard of him since, and supposed he was dead. The other night he returned, and found she had been married since 1866. He was received graciously by her present husband, Joseph Adams, and will stay several weeks before he returns to Missouri, where he has a wife and children. Another curious domestic trio are now living together in Vanceburg. William McCane, an aged gentleman, married a pretty widow. A few months after the marriage the young wife fell in love with John Simpler, the hired man. Mr. McCane discovered the mutual infatuation, devorced his wife and allowed her to marry Simpler. They now, all three, live happily together, McCane has, it is said, deeded Simpler and his former wife all his possessions.

Mrs. Ann Dyson, who had resided in Massachusetts and, obtained a divorce decree there, was sought in marriage by James Jacobs of Providence, R. I. She explained that seven weeks must elapse before she could legally marry again, but Jacobs insisted that Massachusetts law did not apply in Rhode Island, and, as an inducement to an immediate marriage, deeded to her all his real estate, valued at nearly $10,000. The union did not turn out happily, and Jacobs undertook to avail himself of the provisions of the Massachusetts nisi decree, alleging that his marriage was illegal and therefore the consideration upon which the transfer of the property had been based was wanting and the contract not binding. He solicited the court to repossess him with the real estate last week. The Supreme court dismissed the bill and in caustic terms informed Jacobs that Mrs. Dyson had made him fully acquainted with the perils of the step he proposed to take, and which he did take with his eyes wide open. Therefore he had no redress for playing the part of the fool.

The marriage was illegal, but Mrs Dyson was not to be held accountable on that score.

MRS. ANN DYSON.

WOMEN WHO DRINK.

The Habit Is Astonishingly Prevalent, According to Dr. Kellogg-Lane.

Oakland, Cal., is to have a drink cure exclusively for women, by women and of women. A society has just been formed, with Dr. L. J. Kellogg-Lane as president, for the building of a drink cure institute exclusively for women. Nearly all of the ladies are either physicians or members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union. Some time ago Mrs. O. R. Johnson, then president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of Oakland, said in an address to the city council during an antisaloon fight that 500 women in Oakland went to bed drunk every night. This statement has gone down in the history of Oakland, and though Mrs. Johnson's administration of the Woman's Christian Temperance union has passed she seems to have left the mark of her ideas upon her successors, and this may be the outcome of her speech four years ago.

DR. L. J. KELLOGG-LANE.

Mrs. L. J. Kellogg-Lane, the president of the new association, does not hold as pronounced views about female drunkenness as did Mrs. O. R. Johnson, but she looks at it from a medical as well as a moral point of view. She holds to the need of such an institute and explains the need in this way, for she is a practicing physician: "Only physicians have any conception of the strong hold the liquor habit has, not only on the women of the country at large, but of our own city, and it is particularly so in the large cities. We know how much drunkenness there is among them, because of the great number who require the services of a physician to put them into proper condition after a more or less protracted spree.

"It has been my experience that drinking women are much more prone to have regular periodical sprees than men. Some men will go on a spree every three or six months, but there are many women who must have their sprees every month. But they are more sensible than men, for instead of carousing around the streets at all hours of the day and night they shut themselves in their own homes, and no one outside of the family physician and the immediate members of the household knows anything about it. But the women also get quite as drunk as the men, and they remain in that condition until their appetite for liquor is properly satisfied. Then they commence the harder task of getting sober, just as the men do.

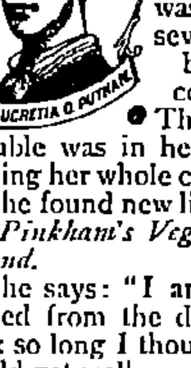

"The saloons and restaurants with private entrances and private rooms are very tempting places for the drinking woman. While out shopping it is no trouble or even risk to her to enter a private room and drink all she may wish. Besides those who drink to excess there are those who just tipple, and the number is legion. They feel that they must have their brandy and soda in the morning and their toddy at night, besides drinks of various kinds during the day and evening. This deplorable matter has forced itself upon a larger number of thinking women who have become earnest in a mutual desire to minimize drunkenness among women.

"There are many drink cure establishments in the state and country, but I do not know of one that is devoted to the treatment of women. There are many women who would like to be cured, but who do not like to go where men are treated. Recognizing this, we have determined to found a remedial institute to meet this demand and to be used for the cure of women only." The cocaine and morphine habits will be treated also, and here again, says Dr. Lane, are habits more frequent among women than among men.

LUCRETIA O. PUTNAM.

The weight of her body caused terrible pains in her back, and it was sometimes several hours before she could dress. This woman's trouble was in her womb, affecting her whole constitution.

She found new life in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

She says: "I am like one raised from the dead. I was sick so long I thought I never could get well.

"The suffocating, gasping attacks and awful bearing-down feeling left me, my appetite returned, and my friends wondered at my improved looks. I believe Mrs. Pinkham's remedies are a sure cure for the misery of our sex."

Harry Turner, son of Engineer William Turner, has been confined to his bed for a week from the effects of vaccination. He is improving now and his parents hope to see him as well as ever in a few days.

It is stated that there is now such an army of unemployed railroad men in Chicago that any one of the trunk lines, in case of a strike, could be equipped within twenty-four hours with a force to operate the road.

Foreman James Howes and Foreman R. H. Harrison, the former of the boiler department and the latter of the iron machine department of the Pittsburg shops, laid off to-day to attend the funeral of the late Jacob Sosenheimer.

The City band, which will accompany the Fort Wayne traveling men to Lafayette next Saturday, has been honored by the first place in the grand parade which will take place immediately after the arrival of the delegation at that city.

The Nickel Plate trainmen have received notice that the examinations for color blindness will commence May 21. Usually a car is equipped for this purpose, but this year the examinations will be made in one of the down town offices.

A decision has been handed down recently in New York state by the supreme court which permits a first-class passenger to ride free in a drawing room car if all the seats in a passenger coach are occupied, which means that a railway company must provide seats for each passenger.

The Pennsylvania railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association, at Philadelphia, last week, held its commencement exercises, and diplomas were given to forty-six members of the classes in stenography, telegraphy, mechanical draughting, bookkeeping, arithmetic and penmanship.

To raise funds for the support of the Pullman strikers, the American Railway Union will, it is said, assess each of its 380,000 members three cents per week. The assessments will be forwarded twice a month to Pullman for distribution. The men are confident of winning the strike and are quiet and orderly.

A Pittsburg freight train from the west brought in fifteen or twenty deadwood passengers this morning. The men got off the cars near the electric light works and started out in all directions, presumably in search of something to eat. Some of them were neatly dressed, even having their shoes polished. It is believed they are the advance guard of Randall's army.

The dispatchers in the general offices of the Pittsburg hereby accept the challenge of the base ball cranks in Yardmaster W. E. Davis' office, game to take place at the fair grounds on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The dispatchers claim to be ball players and will everlastingly vanquish the "night hawks," as they call the boys in Mr. Davis' office. Fred Foster will umpire the game.

Conductor Barney died of consumption, at Huntington, last night. The deceased was a former resident of this city and worked on the Muncie and Nickel Plate roads. Some time ago he went to Huntington and took a position as freight conductor on the Chicago and Erie road. He was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors and held a life insurance policy in that order for $3,000. Mr. Barney leaves a wife and one child. Yard Master Taylor, of the Lake Erie and Western road, went to Huntington this morning to assist in the funeral preparations.

Extensive preparations for the Trades and Labor Council fair, which will be held the first week in June, are now under way. It is the wish of the council to make a grand display and celebration on Labor Day and to do so money is necessary. Heretofore contributions were solicited from the business men for the purpose, and to their credit let it be said they contributed liberally. This year the money will be raised by the fair. Committees have been appointed to wait upon the different trade unions for the purpose of interesting them in the matter and to ensure the success of the fair, which will open June 6.

The great coal strike which has closed nearly every mine in the twelve coal states, has stimulated experiments with coal mining machinery and the result will doubtless be a general change in the method of operating mines. A Chicago man has invented a mining machine which, it is believed, will successfully perform the work of dozens of men with picks. The machine is operated by compressed air and can be run with little expense or skill. The Cleveland Mining company is preparing to set a number of these coal mining machines at work as soon as the present strike is over. The firm hopes, by the adoption of machinery, to prevent strikes in the future.

Change of Time.

May 20 the Nickel Plate road will change time. The new summer schedule will afford the same number of trains as at present, including through sleeping car service between Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston. The improvements will embrace the shortening of the time of some of the through trains between Buffalo and Chicago. 15, d5t, w1t

ROBBER SHOOTS.

Detective Wounded by a Railway Station Burglar.

Boulder Creek, Cala., May 16.—Late last night an attempt was made to rob the railway station at this place by a man named Azoff, who walked up to the station agent and ordered him to throw up his hands, which the agent did. Detective Len Harris, of the Southern Pacific secret service, who had previous information that the attempt would be made, stepped out of a room in which he was hiding and ordered the robber to surrender, but instead of obeying, Azoff turned and shot Harris in the stomach and made his escape towards Los Gatos. Harris' wounds will probably prove fatal. Azoff has worked around here for over a year, but a short time ago lost his position and since then has done nothing. It is believed he had a confederate.

The groom is nineteen and the bride sixteen years old, and because of their youthfulness objection was raised to the proposed marriage.

Sells Brothers' Millionaire Amusement Alliance Coming Thursday.

THIS season Messrs. Sells Brothers, the laurel-crowned showmen, have thoroughly revolutionized the circus world and today stand foremost as managers and proprietors of the largest, oldest and richest show on earth. Having withstood the vicissitudes of business for twenty-three years it is the sole surviving big show of this era. P. T. Barnum was the oldest until his death, as was also the late Adam Forepaugh, but after the executors had disposed of the Barnum and Forepaugh show property, this placed Sells Brothers as the monarch rulers of the greatest and grandest confederation traveling, which is a recognized fact, so admitted by press, public and rival showmen. Nearly a quarter of a century under one management, and during that time have catered to millions of people in this country, Canada and Australia. This year in accordance with the spirit of the times Sells Brothers have lowered the price of admission from 50 to 25 cents for everybody. Positively the only big show in the history of the arenic annals that has ever reduced the price which has proven a most wonderful magnet and will be heralded with glad tidings to the amusement loving public in this vicinity and adjoining counties. 15t2

IN EASTERN HAREMS.

LAURA T. SEELEY TELLS WHAT SHE HAS SEEN.

DEPLORABLE CONDITION OF WOMAN IN ASIA MINOR.

Every Rich Mussulman Supports a Seraglio—The Women Not Allowed to Uncover Their Faces and Are Never Permitted to See Men.

I AM LOCATED IN a town called Odana, on the Cilician plains, in the south central portion of Asia Minor. Well, it would take a volume to tell it all. I can not imagine how woman's condition could be worse than it is in Asia Minor. There are three religions in vogue there—those of the Moslems, the Greeks and the Armenians. A Greek or an Armenian has but one wife, but the Moslem has as many wives generally as his purse and pleasure allow. But not all Moslems are sufficiently wealthy to have more than one wife. About one Moslem out of every ten, I should say, has a harem. His harem may consist of three, four, a half dozen, or any number of women he cares to support.

The orthodox Mohammedan keeps the women of his harem secluded from public view, and he enforces this rule in the most rigorous way. If a woman of the harem appears on the street she is thickly veiled. When a Mussulman entertains his male friend they never enter the woman's parlor; they are entertained in the gentlemen's reception room. The women of the harem are not seen. As a rule, all Mussulmen allow the women missionaries to visit the wives in the harems. But we are strictly prohibited from carrying a Christian Bible with us on these visits. Therefore, in order to spread the gospel of Christ in the harems we are compelled to first form a warm friendship with these women, and after ingratiating ourselves into their good graces, we can finally come to the point of giving them Christian knowledge in an oral way. By constant daily visits to these harems for years I have become perfectly familiar with the miserable lives that these poor ignorant women are compelled to lead. I say ignorant because the great majority of them are densely ignorant. These women, as a rule, are kept in a state of dense ignorance from their birth. They do not know that there is such a book as the Koran, the Mohammedan Bible. They are never permitted to know that they even have a soul. They are never permitted to enjoy any of the benefits of education.

Intellectually, a woman 30 years old is but a child. These women are taught to believe that their only mission in life is to submit to the wishes and desires of the lord of the harem. In other words, a woman is nothing more than an abject slave to man. As this deplorable system has been in vogue for ages, one can readily see to what depths it is possible to sink woman. The women of the Moslem faith do not know that they have any rights. And under the present system, if they do become enlightened and demand some recognition, they only bring physical suffering upon themselves.

If, in our visits to the harems, we succeed in converting a woman to the Christian faith, and she makes the fact known, she is immediately cast out of the harem unless she renounces our religion and again submits to the old customs. A Mussulman can cast any woman out of his harem, anyway, at his own pleasure, for there are no divorce laws that affect him. So whenever he tires of a woman he can cast her out. Only the low desires are developed among the women of the average harem. There are constant jealousies and bickerings among them.

IN A MOSLEM HAREM.

The husband generally has one wife who is a favorite, and sometimes he has two or three favorites if he has a large harem. Besides the jealousy existing among these favorites, the favorites themselves are despised by all the other women in the harem.

Some very amusing things happen, growing out of these jealousies. For instance, in one harem I visit there is one wife who is the prime favorite of the lord. There are no looking glasses in this harem, and the women in preparing themselves to receive the husband are required to paint one another's faces. The favorite in this case was most heartily hated by all the other women. One day while painting her face they made her believe that they were taking especial pains to enhance her beauty. They used cosmetics in the most lavish way, but did it in such a manner as to give her the most horrible appearance possible. As there were no mirrors in the harem, the favorite was in total ignorance of her horrible appearance. But there seems to be a natural artistic talent among these poor women, and it finds expression in their fine needle-work and embroidery and laces. In fact, their whole time is occupied in this fancy work and in keeping their toilet in a way to please the husband.

A Pointer to Travelers.

While Mr. T. J. Richey, of Altona, Mo was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. For sale by druggists.

The jubilee celebration will continue tomorrow and Friday.

ZEBULON B. VANCE.

Career of the Late United States Senator from South Carolina.

The death from apoplexy in Washington recently of Zebulon B. Vance of North Carolina removes from the United States senate its most genial and in some regards its most picturesque member. He was a handsome, bluff and hearty man, full of good nature and overflowing with good stories, but at the bottom a sincere man, with a proper appreciation of the dignity and importance of his public station. He had been conspicuous in public life for so long that he was generally regarded as older than he actually was—64 when he died. But he went to congress as a very young man, serving one term and part of another before the beginning of the war. When Sumter was fired on he left Washington and went with his state, joining the confederate army as a captain, and becoming a colonel later. In 1862 he was elected governor of North Carolina, and re-elected in 1864. He was very active in the assistance of the confederate cause while governor of his state, and gained great popularity all over the south. He used to tell of himself that during this period he was in a battle, and some one with him asked whether it was possible that real men could be afraid when under fire. "I don't know," he answered—"I don't know. But I do know that if I was not governor of North Carolina, I would run like the devil."

SENATOR VANCE.

When the war was over, Gov. Vance was imprisoned in Washington for some time, but was honorably discharged. In 1870 he was once more sent to congress, but the seat was refused him on account of political disabilities. These having been removed, he tried for election again two years later, but was defeated. In 1876 he was elected governor of his state for a third time, and at the conclusion of his term, after a long struggle, he was elected to the United States senate. To this body he was re-elected a second and third time—in 1884 and 1890.

A Popular Remedy.

The promptness and certainty of its cure have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy famous. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croop and whooping cough, and is the most effectual remedy known for these diseases. Mr. C. B Main, of Union City, Pa., says: "I have a great sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I warrant every bottle and have never heard of one failing to give entire satisfaction." 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

QUEEN OR WIFE.

A Pretty Little Story of Victoria's Early Married Days.

The marriage of Queen Victoria, then only 20 years of age, to Prince Albert of Saxe-Gotha, was, it is well known, a veritable love match, but for some years the royal lady found some difficulty in reconciling her sense of dignity and her wifely affections. The story goes that one day, after a little disagreement, her majesty having expressed herself in rather a despotic tone, the prince, whose manly self-respect was smarting at her words, sought the seclusion of his own apartments, closing and locking the door after him.

In about five minutes some one knocked at his door.

"Who is it?" inquired the prince.

"It is I. Open to the queen of England?" haughtily responded her majesty.

There was no reply. After a long interval there came a gentle tapping, and the low-spoken words:

"It is I, Victoria, your wife."

And then the door was opened, and the young bride was clasped in her husband's arms.

"Disfigured For Life"

Is the despairing cry of thousands afflicted with Unsightly skin diseases.
Do you realize what this disfiguration means to sensitive souls?
It means isolation, seclusion.
It is a bar to social and business success.
Do you wonder that despair seizes upon these sufferers when
Doctors fail,
Standard remedies fail,
And nostrums prove worse than useless?
Skin diseases are most obstinate to cure or even relieve.
It is an easy matter to claim to cure them, but quite another thing to do so.
CUTICURA REMEDIES
Have earned the right to be called Skin Specifics,
Because for years they have met with most remarkable success.
There are cases that they cannot cure, but they are few indeed.
It is no long-drawn-out, expensive experiment.

Identity of a Young Woman Established.

San Francisco, Cal., May 16.—The mystery surrounding the identity of a young woman calling herself, Emily J. Freeman, which a few weeks ago occupied considerable space in the Denver and San Francisco papers, has been cleared up and it transpires she is Annie Mooney, who was lost at a picnic in Belmont, San Matteo county, Cal., in 1883. Her disappearance at that time created a great surprise. Her father was James Mooney, a carpenter, and though he was certain the child had been kidnapped, he was absolutely unable to fasten reasonable suspicion upon any person.

A dainty and elaborate lunch was served, and when the tobacco smoke had been cut into chunks and thrown out of the window a splendid program was carried out. The session was the last of the season.

Indiana Youth Elopes on His Wheel, His Sweetheart on a Train.

Wabash, Ind., May 16.—Miss Nora Smith, the pretty young daughter of a farmer living near this city, and George Murphy, aged twenty, son of a neighbor, eloped and were married in this city yesterday. Young Murphy came to Wabash on his wheel and met the girl, who is but seventeen years of age, at the Big Four station. The only obstacle to the union was the objection by the parents that they were too young.

A BOY KILLED.

Sad Accident Occurs Three Miles East of Maysville.

George Cummings, Aged Fourteen, Struck by Lightning—Many are Shocked—Other Casualties.

A sad accident occurred at Killion school house, three miles east of Maysville, yesterday afternoon. It was the last day of school, and many of the parents and friends of the pupils had gathered to attend the closing exercises. A heavy thunder shower came up, and while a number of the children were standing near the open doorway a bolt of lightning struck the house. The fatal shaft struck the gable and, running down the cornice and to the ground, passed through the body of George Cummings, the fourteen-year-old son of Frank Cummings, killing him instantly. The lad was thrown about twenty feet into the yard. The boy had his hat on at the time and the current first burned a place the size of one's hand on the hat crown, thence passed down the right side of the head, across the throat under the chin, thence down the left side, burning a path two inches wide in its course.

A number of other pupils and the teacher, Milo Gorrell, were standing near by and were all seriously, but not dangerously, shocked.

George Pence, aged seven years, was the worst injured, but he will recover. The sad accident has cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood, as the lad who was killed was a general favorite.

A SAVAGE FIGHT.

Will McNutt Fearfully Beaten Over the Head.

He and Line Repairer O. K. Johnson Fight Over a Coxey Argument—Taken Home In a Cab.

About 11 o'clock this morning a pitched battle was fought at the east car barns which came nearly terminating very seriously. O. K. Johnson, line repairer for the street car company, and Will McNutt, a son of Superintendent McNutt, of the car lines, got into an argument over the Coxey movement. Both men are quite hot tempered and from a heated argument they came to blows. Those who saw the fight say that Johnson made the first attack on McNutt, but seeing that McNutt was likely to get the better of him, he seized a heavy iron lever and struck his antagonist four fearful blows over the head. The injured man was felled to the ground insensible but soon revived and attacked Johnson. The enraged men were finally separated. Johnson at once left the barn and McNutt was taken home in a cab. His head was badly cut. He is married and lived on DeWald street. The blows he received were enough almost to kill an ox.

Johnson was arrested this afternoon by Constable Wise. He will have a hearing tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock before Justice France.
